

Here's what your support has made possible during the past year!

The sudden closure of schools last year pushed education out of the classroom and onto screens. Teachers and parents scrambled to supply the lessons and the equipment needed. Students missed their classmates, and struggled to access online classrooms. Managing stress was a real challenge.

During 2020, EduCare staff stepped up, right along with the schools and the students we are honored to serve. In the process, we maintained essential connection with, and support for, students in communities hit hardest by the lack of services. And their efforts paid off: in a recent survey, our students reported that participating in EduCare programs helped them cope with stress. As one student said, "I don't feel isolated." Another student shared that "it helps me relieve stress and gets me on task."

Here are some highlights from the past year, plus exciting news about upcoming events and initiatives – not to mention a book launch and a new website!

VIRTUAL ANNEX

When on-campus education stopped last year, it was essential to bring curriculum to students online. EduCare's afterschool staff stepped up and recorded hundreds of hours of classes – academics, enrichment, and fitness. We call it the Virtual Annex.

The Virtual Annex offered everything from American history to algebra, drum lessons to fine arts, from mental health to yoga – all in readily accessible online segments.

CREATIVITY AND CONNECTION

EduCare partnering high schools offer a rich array of virtual classes and events.

Just one reminder of the ongoing creativity young people showed during their stay at home – LAUSD students sing "It's a Wonderful World."

98% of the participants in EduCare's virtual programs during the last year said that EduCare staff makes them feel welcome.
